DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 09/19/05 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 27 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Estacio et al. (US 2003/0189248 A1).

In re claim 27, Estacio (e.g., Figs. 1, 33, 34) discloses a semiconductor device, comprising:

an interconnect layer (51) provided over a semiconductor substrate (7); an electrically conductive anti-oxidizing layer (52) formed in contact with a part of the interconnect layer; and a bonding pad metal film (53a) provided over said electrically conductive anti-oxidizing layer to form an electrical connection with said interconnect layer.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 28-31 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Estacio as applied to claim 27 above, and further in view of Cowens et al. (US 2003/0052414 A1).

In re claim 28, Estacio discloses the device of claim 27, wherein said conductive anti-oxidizing layer contains Ti-Cu (pp. 2, section [0026]). Estacio does not expressly disclose the interconnect layer comprising copper. Cowens discloses a copper-containing interconnect layer (201) connecting to a substrate. It would have been obvious for one skilled in the art at the time of the invention to use a copper interconnect as disclosed by Cowens for the interconnect layer of Estacio for the purpose, for example, of enhancing the conductivity of the device.

In re claim 29, Estacio in view of Cowens discloses the device of claim 28, further comprising:

an electrically conductive protective film (53) intervening between said electrically conductive anti-oxidizing layer and said bonding pad metal film (53a).

In re claim 30, as best understood, Estacio in view of Cowens discloses the device of claim 29, but does not expressly disclose a TiN layer as an electrically conductive protective film. However, TiN is well-known barrier layer within semiconductor technology and it would have been obvious to one skilled in the art at the time of the invention to use a TiN barrier/protective layer between metal layers for the purpose, for example, of better preventing metal from one layer diffusing into another.

In re claim 31, Estacio in view of Cowens discloses the device of claim 30, further comprising a solder ball (that) adheres to said bonding pad metal film.

Allowable Subject Matter

6. Based on Applicant's amendments to the claims and arguments presented therewith, claims 1-7 and 20-26 are allowed.
